

ABOUT TRAVELXP

As you already know, Travelxp is every customer's favorite travel brand of choice. At our heart, we have always believed that there is one world, a beautiful and enigmatic world, and there should be no boundaries to our knowledge, our explorations, our ideas, our memories and our capabilities to create truly beautiful journeys, companies and associations.

Over the last 10 years, Travelxp has built some industry leading, pioneering travel brands. Starting off with our marquee travel channel in India, we set off to create some really admirable travel content, which highlights the beauty our world possesses, with plentiful destinations, cultures, cuisines and heritage. Over the years, we have expanded this into the world's leading travel television channel, broadcasting in over 50 countries, to over 100 million+ homes (that's almost 500 million people!!).

Travelxp today is synonymous as the gold standard of travel content, shooting stunning 8K HDR travel content, and displaying not only its love and admiration amongst the people, but also amongst the technical wizards, representing the world of travel in the cliques of the content production elite, as the pioneers behind 4K HDR and now, 8K HDR content.

We have also begun investing into the other fields of travel, bringing the same traveler & quality centric mindset into travel bookings. Travelxp.com, launched during a similar time, has now become a pivotal point of focus for the Travelxp group. Travelxp.com aims to cater to customers who want a truly curated, integrated travel experience with the industry's most reliable travel advisors. Creating such a platform, bringing travel enthusiasts together, and helping people experience travel in the way we truly believe it is meant to be, will be a main goal of Travelxp.com's current yearly plan.

Additionally, Travelxp is always on the lookout for new opportunities. We recently started our second ifestyle channel, Foodxp in the UK, curating the best of Indian food, created by some of India's top master chefs, including Sanjeev Kapoor, Harpal Singh Sokhi, Neha Shah, Mirvaan Vinayak among others.

Let's work together on creating one world with no boundaries!
